The Estimated Number and Compensation of Federal, State, and Local Officers and Employees, 1937-1938

The Public Salary Tax Act of 1939, approved April 12, 1939, subjects to the Federal income tax for all taxable years beginning after December 31, 1938, the compensation of all State and local officers and employees regardless of the nature of their office or employment; the United States consents to non-discriminatory State and local taxation of the compensation received after December 31, 1938 by all Federal officers and employees regardless of the nature of their office or employment. The Act also provides relief from Federal taxation for years prior to 1939 of certain State and local officers and employees; and likewise prohibits the collection of State and local income taxes after April 12, 1939 on the compensation of certain Federal officers and employees received in years prior to 1939.

Formerly, although the Federal income tax applied to the compensation of all Federal officers and employees, it did not apply, because of what were then thought to be constitutional prohibitions, to the compensation of most State and local employees. State income taxes, while applying generally to the compensation of State and local officers and employees, did not apply to the compensation of Federal officers and employees, also because of such constitutional prohibitions.

In connection with the consideration of this legislation by the Seventy-sixth Congress, the Treasury Department was required to assemble and analyze information concerning the number and compensation of Federal, State, and local officers and employees. The findings of this analysis are summarized in the accompanying tables.

The data for State and local governments, the Federal Judiciary, the Library of Congress, and the Federal executive agencies, except those specified below, are as of December 31, 1937. Data for the Army, the Navy, the Marine Corps, the Coast Guard, the Works Progress Administration, the Tennessee Valley Authority, the Congress, and the other legislative establishments are as of December 31, 1938. The information pertaining to Federal civilian annuitants is for June 30, 1938.

It is estimated that in 1937-1938 the active Federal, State, and local officers and employees numbered 3,788, 616. Their annual compensation for the same year is estimated at $5,506, 874,000. In the case of the Federal military personnel, the total compensation included allowances for quarters and subsistence. For 1938, these allowances amounted to $83,370,000. Exclusive of military allowances, the compensation of active Federal, State, and local officers and employees amounted to $5,423,504,000. In addition, $67,000,000 was paid Federal temporary and substitute postoffice employees and $130,125,000 was paid the retired and reserve Federal civilian and military personnel. Information regarding the number and compensation of retired State and local personnel is not available.

The above totals excluded unpaid officers and temporary employees whose total annual compensation was not in excess of $100 per year. Part-time or temporary employees with a larger compensation were included. The compensation of these employees, as well as that of the permanent and full-time personnel, is reported on an annual basis.

Sources of Information

Federal active civilian personnel. Information showing the number of Federal active civilian personnel, classified by salary size groups, was in large part obtained from the United States Civil Service Commission. The salary distribution for 780,196 Federal employees was estimated on the basis of a sample of 46,054 cards selected at random from the service record cards of the Civil Service Commission. This group comprised the regular and emergency employees of the Judiciary, the Library of Congress, and all the Federal executive agencies, except those separately enumerated.

Information covering the Works Progress Administration, the Tennessee Valley Authority, the Congress of the United States, the Superintendent of Documents, the Architect of the Capitol, and other legislative agencies, was furnished in part by the respective organizations and in part by the Bureau of the Budget. The salary distribution of certain labor and clerical classes, representing 1.7 percent of the number of Federal personnel, was estimated on the basis of the pay of comparable employees.

Military active and retired personnel. Complete reports of the active, retired and reserve military forces of the Federal Government were supplied by the War Department, the Navy Department, the U. S. Marine Corps, and the Coast Guard. Information on basic military pay and allowances for quarters and subsistence was separately reported. Military allowances represent the cash payments to officers and enlisted men in lieu of quarters and subsistence or the equivalent value of these allowances for the officers. Equivalent pay values for enlisted men were restricted to subsistence, no values being computed for barracks or other quarters.

Number and compensation of State and local personnel. Estimates of the number and compensation of State and local personnel were in large part based on data supplied by the National Income Division, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce. Supplementary information was obtained by correspondence with State and local officials and with semi-official research organizations. Estimates of the number and pay of school teachers were based on data obtained from the United States Office of Education and the National Education Association. Statistics regarding the Federally-aided State and local functions were obtained from the several Federal agencies charged with the allocation of Federal funds.

Salary size distribution of State and local personnel. The salary distribution of school teachers was obtained from (1) a sample representing 345,742 of the 414,168 urban teachers in the United States, tabulated from the records of the National Education Association; and (2) a sample representing 202,469 of the 482,050 rural teachers in the United States, tabulated from the records of the Office of Education. The salary size distributions of the other State and local officers and employees were based on data available in State and local budgetary records and those furnished by State civil service commissions, other State and local officials, research bureaus, and leagues of municipalities.

Federal retired civilian personnel. The Civil Service Commission reported the number of Federal civilian annuitants, including the retired officers and employees of the Civil Service, Canal Zone and Alaska Railroad, classified by the size of annuities.
